

Linda Stein Gold

She earned her MD from University of Pennsylvania and completed her residency at Henry Ford Hospital as Chief Resident. She is a former VP of the American Academy of Dermatology (2022–2023) and serves as Councilor for the International Psoriasis Council and the International Eczema Council. Her research focuses on psoriasis, eczema, acne, and rosacea. She has led major global Phase III trials for novel therapies. She is a renowned speaker with numerous peer-reviewed papers.